Iagan's practice covers domestic and foreign patent prosecution, patent opinions, intellectual property evaluations/ due diligence and intellectual property litigation. He has represented and counseled both domestic and international clients in a broad range of technical areas including, mechanical, electromechanical, telecommunications and aerospace.

Iagan joined Rader, Fishman, & Grauer in 2012. Prior to joining the firm, Iagan was IP director for a global research company, headquartered in Virginia, whose focus is identifying business opportunities and risks for Fortune 1000 companies by investigating the patent environment.

He earned his law degree from John Marshall Law School and a bachelor of science in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan.

Young & Associates

Farmington Hills-based Young & Associates announced that all six attorneys on staff have been named Super Lawyers. Young & Associates Founder Rodger D. Young achieved the Super Lawyer designation for the eighth year in a row. Attorneys J. David Garcia, Jason Killips, Sara MacWilliams, Terry Mike Osgood, and Jay Quadrozzi were also honored as 2014 Super Lawyers.

With a record of winning 48 out of 53 jury trials, Young leveraged his experience in complex commercial litigation to found the Young & Associates firm in 1981. He has garnered numerous state and national distinctions, including Best Lawyers in America, election to the American College of Trial Lawyers. His non-legal experience includes gubernatorial appointments to the Michigan Environmental Review Board, the Michigan Transportation Commission, and a presidential appointment by President George W. Bush to serve as a United States delegate to the United Nations General Assembly in 2007-2008.

Recognized as a Super Lawyer Rising Star in 2013, Garcia specializes in issues such as intellectual property, sales representative, automotive supplier, account liability, trade secret, unfair competition, business and contract litigation. Garcia earned his law degree at University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Law.

Killips, a 2013 Super Lawyer Rising Star, focuses his practice on complex commercial litigation, including intellectual property, account liability, automotive supplier and business dispute litigation. He received his law degree at the University of Michigan Law School.

Honored in 2013 as both an Up & Coming Lawyer and a Michigan Super Lawyer, MacWilliams focuses on issues such as health care litigation, contract litigation, trade secrets, intellectual property, and business torts. She was named a Super Lawyers Rising Star for 2010 and 2011 and has secured judgments or settlements in excess of $35 million over the last three years. She earned her law degree from the University of Michigan Law School.

Osgood's practice is focused on complex briefing, particularly in the area of accounting, for both trials and appeals. Since 2002, Osgood has held the top ranking of "AV" for legal ability and professional ethics, by Martindale-Hubbell. She received her law degree from the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Law, where she graduated first in her class. She then clerked for the United States District Court in Kansas City and the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Named one of Michigan Lawyers Weekly's 2014 Leaders in the Law, Quadrozzi handles day-to-day responsibilities for numerous multi-million dollar cases. She recently represented Oakland County in the Detroit bankruptcy case, and serves as the director on the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Board, which is charged with overseeing the regional park system of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, and Washtenaw counties. She was a partner at Kotton, Muchin, & Zavitz before joining Young & Associates. Quadrozzi attended University of Michigan Law School where she earned her law degree.

Oakland County Circuit Court

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge James Alexander has been elected chair of the State Bar Judicial Council for the 2014-2015 bar year. The Judicial Council consists of representatives of the three judicial associations: District Judges Association, Probate Judges Association, and the Michigan Judges Association, which represents circuit and court of appeals judges.

Alexander is a former president of the Michigan Judges Association and currently is co-chair of its Legislative Committee. He was appointed to the bench by Governor John Engler in 2001 and has been re-elected since then. Prior to his appointment, Alexander was the director of the Governor's Southeast Michigan office. Alexander was a shareholder at the Foster Swift firm before beginning his career in public service. The Oakland County Bar Association honored him with its Distinguished Public Service Award earlier this year.

Alexander serves on the Oakland County Business Court with his colleague, Judge Wendy Potts. They have both been admitted to the American College of Business Court Judges. He previously served in the Court's Family Division, where he is a former presiding judge, and the Civil/Criminal Division. He was the chief judge pro tem of the Circuit Court for a five-year period.

Also elected to officer positions were Wayne County 21st District Judge Richard Hamner, chair elect; Cass County Probate Court Judge Susan Dobrich, vice chair; Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Lita Popke, secretary; and Muskegon County Circuit Court Judge Tim Hicks, treasurer.
